

Higher Education Demands Higher Quality and Expertise

"Merit's experience in projects of this magnitude, combined with their attention to detail and quality product made them an easy choice when we were looking for a contractor for our project,"
said Steve South,
president of South College.

"They were able to work with us and the architect to deliver the best value for our budget."

Building on Merit and Integrity

That's why South College chose Merit Construction to build their new $7.4 million campus on Lonas Road. Merit's experience in building quality educational facilities is unmatched with more than 75 educational-related projects valued at over $275 million over the last 23 years.

South College's new 57,297 square foot building was completed in March, two months ahead of schedule in March and features classrooms, chemistry and biology labs, lecture halls and administrative space.

"We're honored to have been chosen to build this state-of-the-art campus and proud to build something that has such a lasting impact on our community," said Bruce Bosse, president of Merit Construction. "Every educational facility project we do is special and means a lot to me and to everyone in our organization."

Merit Construction
We live up to our name.
